HIGH SCHOOL ADDS $15,000

Jeff District Boards Adopt Huge Budgets

Both Jefferson Elementary and Jefferson High School District adopted their fiscal budget Monday night at regular meetings in their Westlake offices.

The High School board made one inclusion, an addition of $15,000, which business affairs manager Fred Goodell said was due to the increased contribution to social security and state retirement under laws that were recently passed by the state.

The additional amount brought the adopted budget to $2,754,814, including undistributed and general reserves, as compared to $2,531,264 last fiscal year.

Elementary board members adopted a $3,103,876 budget this year, as compared to $2,476,625 actual expenditures last year. However, on the recommendation of Superintendent Richard Foster the board decided to cut the tax rate from the proposed $2.13 to the finally adopted $2.10.

Foster gave the reasons for a more costly budget on 1300 student enrollment increase, additional building expenditures for the three new schools being built and the 5.6 per cent increase given to classified employees.

Few questions were asked of the board concerning the budget but Julian Castelan, a civil engineer, asked, "Is any of the money allotted for teaching foreign languages? The board has been talking about this for the past three years but nothing has been done as of yet. In Russia, three out of every four students can speak a foreign language while here the ratio is only one out of every ten."

Foster answered, "Dr. Vinton Stratton and I were discussing starting foreign languages in the eighth grade one year from September; but there is nothing in the current budget that would stop us from starting now."

"However, two things must be done. The eighth grade program must be revamped to see what can be done to fit the language instruction into the schedule and, second, the administration must have teachers with a thorough background and ability to instruct the languages."

Castelan said he was satisfied with Foster's reply. The matter is not closed as Foster, Stratton and Dr. David Sharpiro will look further into the matter.

OCEANA PROJECT TO GO BEFORE STATE BOARD

Jefferson High School District trustees Monday night purchased the last parcel of land on the Oceana site from Mr. and Mrs. James J. Gallagher, 12 Sharon Way, Pacifica, at a cost of $10,880.

Assistant Superintendent Fred Goodell said an application for construction at the Oceana site will go before the State Allocations Board on Tuesday. He said the school will house 944 pupils and is estimated at a total cost of $2,401,306.

At the same meeting the board awarded the low bid of $273,900 to Berger Coastwide Construction of San Carlos for the grading and developing the Terra Nova site roadways. Other bidders were: Robert Mulloy, Piombo Construction Company, Bellicitti and Pelliciotti, L. C. Smith Company, O. C. Jones and Sons, and Arthur B. Haskins, Inc.

The board also allotted an additional $2000 to Brewer and Associates for completion of the work at the Terra Nova building foundations.

Trustees adopted the course of study for the coming year. New additions are World History at the junior level and Economics at the senior level at Jefferson High.

Peter R. Franck was hired as a social studies teacher at Jefferson High.

PACIFICA POLICE ARREST FORMER W'MOOR PREXY

Bucky Hyers, 18, president of the Westmoor High School student body in 1957 - 58 was arrested last Wednesday on charges of hiding stolen goods in his home by Pacifica police after a series of gas station hold-ups.

Arrested with the honor student was John O. Gay, 21, a sailor AWOL from Moffett Field who had been staying at Hyer's home, and five teenagers.

Police recovered some of the stolen goods valued at more than $300 which were taken during the past two weeks. The gang is said to have broken into three gas stations, twice broken into the Sharp Park Golf Course and to have stolen at least two cars.

Gay, AWOL from his base, provided most of the transportation for the robberies, said Police Chief Neil Tremaine. All of the minors will go to juvenile court while Hyers can either be tried in juvenile court or have an adult hearing.

SUMMER SCHOOL ABSENCE RULE UNDER SCRUTINY

Two fathers asked consideration of their sons gaining readmission to the summer session at Jefferson High from the Jefferson High School District Board of trustees Monday night.

Joe Lewkowitz, Jefferson Elementary School District Chairman, and Harry Berg, 144 Crestwood drive, spoke in behalf of their sons, Victor Lewkowitz and Ed Berg, disputing the absence regulations imposed by the district.

Lewkowitz made it clear that he did not want to "start a war" between the two school boards and his plea was simply one of a father.

The Elementary Chairman said his son had signed permission to miss the first week of summer school and only had four tardy markings against his name and should not have been denied summer school privileges.

Assistant Business Manager Louis Martin said Tuesday that Victor did have permission to attend the week of National Guard training, but an agreement was made between him and the principal, Dr. John Ivan, that he could not receive any absence or late marks.

Martin did not state which of the two boys was late by more than half an hour, which Robert Hyde, who took over for Ivan, considered an absence.

Martin said the "not absent more than three times for any reason" rule was one of long standing and is in effect in other districts throughout the state.

Lewkowitz maintained he would bring the case to San Mateo County school officials if necessary.

The two fathers complained that district rulings make it necessary for them to be notified when two absences occur to a parent's summer school child, and both state they were not notified.

Berg listed his sons three absences as: (1) an illness, (2) reporting for an air force examination (he is to go on active duty on August 24) and, (3) a day he had to spend in court.

In addition, Berg says his son's car's brakes went out the day he received his third late check.

A salesmanager for Bay Area Enterprises, Berg believes that leniency should be shown and the rules should not steadfastly apply in all cases.

This seems to be the main point in the summer session dispute. The school board will not waver in the "not more than three absences and three late" ruling.

Berg said his son is still attending classes and will take any examination that may be given him, whether he is reinstated or not.

The board did not give either of the boys the re-consideration to continue summer school but did make a recommendation as follows: "The board recommends that a review board be established for the purpose of reviewing major infractions of policies regarding summer school policy." The motion was set forth by trustee Jim Cooper and unanimously approved.

Chairman Elio Fontana said that this was the first time,

Sandal-Wearing Boy Cuts Foot On Glass

His sandals did not offer much protection when he stepped on the broken bottle. After treatment he was brought to his home.

POLICEMEN ALMOST GET KILLED

PAJAMA-CLAD BOY ATTEMPTS MOVIE SCRIPT CAR CHASE

A pajama-clad 14 - year - old was in custody 3 a.m. Tuesday after nearly forcing a Daly City police car off the side of a cliff, almost involving an officer in an accidental shooting of himself and just missing demolishing a San Francisco police vehicle.

His comment, when apprehended, was, "I've seen 'hot chases' such as this in the movies and thought I could get away with it like they do."

The Colma lad, a freshman at Westmoor High, said he sneaked out of the house when his parents thought he was asleep and took his father's car for what police usually describe as a "joy ride," though no one connected with the case could find any "joy" in it.

Officer Ralph Warren first spotted "Butch" driving a 1956 sedan in a suspicious manner in the carport and bowling alley area and followed him north on Lake Merced boulevard. Warren turned his siren and red light on at Belmar avenue.

The vehicle increased its speed and Warren radioed for assistance believing he was chasing a stolen auto. The boy crossed Alemany boulevard, zooming through a red light, and went north on Lake Merced boulevard towards San Francisco.

At a "Y" shaped intersection, the car spun around almost hitting Warren's auto. Officer Jeff Wetmore was close behind and took up the 90-mile - an - hour chase. When Wetmore pulled alongside the car at Font boulevard the boy forced him onto the shoulder of the road.

Again Wetmore pulled alongside at Winston drive but the red-headed lad passed him on a curve. By this time Warren had caught up and attempted to get on the left side of the speeding auto.

"Butch" quickly cut to the left forcing Warren's car over the double line and completely off the roadway. Screeching brakes halted Warren's car at the edge of a cliff overlooking the lake. The boy's auto lost its right tire and wheel but this did not stop him from attaining speeds of 65-70 miles per hour.

Wetmore continued the chase, keeping a close watch on the boy who was now driving on the wrong side of the road on Sunset boulevard. At Taraval and Sunset a San Francisco police car shoved its nose into the way to stop the "mile-a-minute" auto but the boy headed straight at the possible obstruction.

He swerved past the SFPD car and hopped a curb and traveled over a lawn and into bushes when making a right turn off Taraval street. "Butch" managed to get back on the road and Wetmore again pulled alongside.

At the time, Wetmore needed both hands to steer the car and was putting his revolver back in its holster when the boy bumped his car. The gun accidentally fired sending a bullet crashing into the police vehicle's roof.

Officer Jerry Galindo said that if Wetmore had been leaning forward, while driving, the bullet could have gone through his temple, judging from its lodged position in the roof.

Wetmore finally forced the sedan off the road at Taraval street and 39th avenue in San Francisco. Warren and San Francisco police converged at the scene and the boy was handcuffed and brought to the Daly City police station on charges of:

Assault with a deadly weapon; reckless driving; driving without a license; and driving without the owner's permission.

Daly City police commended San Francisco police sergeant John O'Connell for his part in apprehending the boy. "Butch" was taken to Hillcrest Juvenile Detention Home. He has a prior arrest record.

His three-mile chase didn't turn out like the movie script he was enacting.

Building Totals Rise Three-Fold

Public Works Director Otis Calhoun said July building totals rose to three times the figure of the previous month but still fell short of the all-time record set in May which enumerated $5,609,000, for 354 dwellings.

July's total expenditures for buildings, alterations and signs amounted to $3,292,935 as compared with June's $1,035,000. Permits issued included: dwellings, 197; alterations to dwellings, 28; apartment permits, 1; commercial alterations, 3; and signs, 3.

Penny Bjorkland Ruling To Be Given Thursday

Penny Bjorkland, 18-year-old slayer of gardener August Norry, will learn Thursday if she is guilty of first or second degree murder when Superior Judge Frank B. Blum makes his ruling at 2 p.m.

The punishment for first degree is life in prison and the penalty for second degree is five years to life

Dr. Bernard Diamond, a psychiatrist, last week told the court, "I consider her as dangerous today as she was on February 1." The February date was the day she fired 18 bullets into Norry's body in the Crocker Hills.

Diamond said Penny "has a morbid fear of being considered mentally ill." He stated he did not know if the girl had the ability to premeditate the murder. Earlier it was claimed the girl had the ability to form the intent to kill.

DRUNK MAN FALLS THROUGH WINDOW

"If I was sober I would have been killed."

This statement was made to police by Douglas V. Fitzgerald, 56, 406 Lakeview avenue, San Francisco, after he had fallen through an 8 x 12 foot window at Gateway Chevrolet, 7400 Mission street, Monday evening.

The 174-pounder's fall caused $317 worth of damage. Jay Short, night manager at the office, reported the fall to police. Injuries sustained by Fitzgerald amounted to a small cut on his finger.

JESD Receives Preliminary Office Plans

Jefferson Elementary School District trustees Monday night accepted the preliminary plans of architect Angus McSweeney for the central office site on the Olcessi property and will file with the state allocations board for funds.

Dr. David Shapiro said the school would be making a considerable saving. "In the long run it is cheaper for us to buy our own building than continue renting this office," he said. "The actual saving in dollars and cents is $80,000." Shapiro added.

Richard Foster, superintendent, noted, "The district will be on state aid and cannot exceed requirements of cost per square foot as they apply throughout the state. Our maximum is $380,000 for the complete building and grading, but the total should be far less than that."

In other business the board:

Asked architect Angus McSweeney to look over the site for a school in Westlake II area;

Allotted $12,449 for asphalt tiling at schools within the district;

Authorized soil stabilization and structural problems surveyal at an estimated cost of $67,000 and asking of state funds after bids are completed.

Hired Elizabeth P. Miles, physical education teacher, who has had six years teaching experience in Spokane, Washington; and accepted the resignation of Loretta Payne who is moving to Los Angeles;

Authorized the administration to go to bid for cafeteria equipment for Ben Franklin and to go to bids for blacktop at Woodrow Wilson and Crocker Schools;

Gave permission to supervisors to nationally sell school bonds totalling $515,000. Dr. Shapiro said this is because the school's assessed evaluation has risen and five per cent of the total must be disposed of to qualify for state funds.

OTIS Calhoun, City Engineer, and John Gloe, architect (right) of 220 Skyline drive, Westlake, look over preliminary plans for the new firehouse to be located at Edgemont Drive and Lincoln avenue. The firehouse is due to be completed during the Christmas season.

South City Gets $40,000 Advance For Hickey Blvd.

Congressman J. Arthur Younger today announces that he has secured approval of $40,000, as an advance, towards planning for construction of Hickey Boulevard, connecting Junipero Serra and Skyline Boulevard in South San Francisco.

The $40,000 advance will be used for surveys, field engineering, and other preliminary planning for the construction of the new highway, which will probably be a 4-lane or 6-lane road. It will be an extension of the present Hickey Boulevard, which joins El Camino Real with Junipero Serra Boulevard.

Total cost of the project is $1,189,500 which will be made up from funds supplied by the federal, state, county, and City of South San Francisco funds and will be a part of the county hignway system, according to Younger.

The funds are provided by the Community Facilities Administration of the federal government and must be repaid to the government upon start of construction, which is estimated as October 1960.

County Manager E. Robert Stallings advised of the advance by Younger said that he was gratified at the prompt action and declared that County Engineer Don Wilson would now be able to proceed immediately with planning for the project. "We consider this a vital unit in our expanding county road system in the rapidly growing section of the county," Stallings said, "and I am pleased to see it get started, so that we can properly cope with the traffic necessary between these two arteries."

Marines took part in John Paul Jones' raid on Whitehaven on April 22, 1778. This was the first and only time that Continental forces set foot on English soil.

PORNOGRAPHY IS REPLACING LITERATURE OF YOUNGSTERS SAYS ASSEMBLYMAN FRANCIS

"Sexy and girlie magazines and nude photographs are replacing textbooks in the reading habits among more than 1,000,000 California teenage school children each year", Assemblyman Louis Francis of San Mateo County, former chairman of the State Assembly Judiciary Subcommittee on Pornographic Literature, declared last night to represenatives from many Redwood City organizations and clubs at the Chamber of Commerce Building.

The meeting was sponsored by the Redwood City Citizens for Decent Literature Committee which invited representatives from organizations, particularly concerned with youth activities, to attend to map an effective program to "combat those who, for personal gain, offer to our youth, magazines and other reading matter which are morally offensive to common decency.

"More and more", he said, "youngsters seem to prefer nudity to niceness because of their natural curiosity. Their changed reading practices represent a major contribution in the rising incidence of juvenile delinquency and subsequent adult criminal activities, particularly sex crimes.

Assemblyman Francis said that by failing to enact effective laws to prevent the distribue tion of "literary trash" during the past session of the Legislature, the state is helping California" Smut Kings" to enjoy more than $500,000,000 a year in "illicit and indecent profits."

He said that the smutty publishing business has fastened unholy tenacles on the children of California and must be liquidated "before that business destroyes our children".

The state legislator emphasized that the "public is aroused against this menace to our children. He pointed out that his proposed legislation to strengthen the state's antiquated laws on the publication, sale and distribution of lawd and obscene has widespread support from all over the State, including the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, California Federation of Women's Clubs, California Junior Chamber of Commerce, Junior Women's clubs, Business and Professional Women's clubs, chambers of commerce, school boards and administrators, civic organizations, labor unions, recreation commissions, organized and official church groups of virtually every religious denomination, Womens Christian Temperance Union, and thousands of parents, civic and Church leaders, businessmen, teachers, lawyers, doctors and other citizens.

Assemblyman Francis declared that new legislation is necessary to achieve a number of highly desirable objectives including:

1. A statutory clear definition of obscene material as that type of literature "which possesses a predominant interest in nudity and sex".

2. Prohibit the practice of forcing newsdealers to buy obscene material in order to be able to purchase nationally popular decent publications. The practice of requiring dealers to buy pornographic literature in a "package deal", along with popular moral types of publications, has been steadily increasing in California during recent years, Assemblyman Francis said.

3. Prohibit advertising which suggests that material offered for sale is of an obscene type, even though it is not. "This is another instance of the ancient come-on system which lures gullible individuals to pay plenty for nothing", Assemblyman Francis declared.

4. Increase the penalties for the sale, distrubution, and publication of obscene literature and photographs to minors.

5. Prohibit the use or employment of minors in the pre-

Assemblyman Francis said that 75 per cent of the 20,000,000 copies of indecent types of magazines, books, motion pictures, photographs, and other forms of filthy literary matter, each month are falling into the hands of school children.

"We must curb and control this vicious racket — it is as dangerous for our children as narcotics because it reaches so many more of them, he said.

Assemblyman Francis will speak before a similar organization Thursday, August 6, at 8 p.m. at San Mateo High School. paration, sale and distribution of obscene matter.

Gus Sebastiani Recovering From Attack

Augusto "Gus" Sebastiani, popular local restaurateur, was reported resting comfortably today in St. Joseph's hospital after suffering a heart seizure last week.

Sebastiani, 54, had just returned from a month-long vacation to re-open his San Pedro Lunch in Colma when he was stricken.

His wife, Hannah, said Sebastiani will probably be confined to the hospital for a month and will require a lengthy convalescence period.

Sebastiani, 3171 San Jose avenue, is well known here both for his proprietorship of the local restaurant and his sponsorship of athletic teams. He has lived in this area for 37 years.

Mrs. Sebastiani, who will continue operating the restaurant for dinners only, said her husband was "resting comfortably and in very good spirits."

Westlake Seaman Serves On Carrier

Donald M. Wiesner, seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Wiesner, 49 Lake Forest road, Westlake, was serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Essex in late July when the 90,000th aircraft landing was made on her decks while the ship was conducting operations off the East Coast.

The Essex, oldest combatant carrier in active service in the Navy, holds the record for carrier landings on ships still in commission. The record of 97,549 landings is held by the old USS Saratoga which was sunk at Bikini Atoll during the A-bomb tests in 1947.

The landings represent over 45 million miles of flying.

The Essex is scheduled to join the U.S. Sixth Fleet in the Mediterranean late this summer.

Wires Pulled From McKeon Tract Homes

Fires were cut and pulled out of five homes under construction in the tract.

Delinquency Can Be Cured At Schools

"The schools occupy a strategic position in the program of delinquency prevention and treatment, and they should be made the center of our community attention—the institution through which we may work to reach all children," holds Dr. Charlotte D. Elmott, an authority in the field of child guidance who was a visiting associate professor of education during Summer Session at the University of California, Santa Barbara.

Dr. Elmott who has conducted numerous studies on the delinquent child also feels that no one institution can adequately solve the problem of delinquency, and that "an integrated program must be developed so that the skills and resources of every agency may be focused on the child in need."

Action is needed in two directions—within the schools to assist in prevention, and within the community in a cooperative-integrative program, Dr. Elmott holds. The schools must use community resources for the treatment program in combating delinquency—for the schools cannot do the job alone.

Drugs and Athletics

Recently the American Medical Association felt obliged to condemn the use of pep-up pills to improve an athlete's performance in the running, jumping and swimming events common to college athletic contests. Doctors were warned that use of these drugs, called amphetamines, was questionable ethically and medically unsound.

Another athletic medical practice which is frowned upon is the use of the very safe and effective anesthetic, novocaine, to deaden pain in a joint which has been injured. Although the athlete so treated may be able to continue on the playing field for a considerable period, the pain which has been deadened was intended to warn him of the danger of continuing to put pressure upon the injured joint or muscles.

It is often asked why pain continues after the warning has been issued. Why, when the patient with an ankle sprain has gone home, put the ankle up and wrapped it in compresses, does it continue to hurt? Why doesn't nature arrange matters so that it would only hurt if moved or if weight were put upon it?

Unfortunately, doctors believe, nature is capable of fooling herself. An injury to muscles or a joint almost invariably causes the muscles to contract, causing a painful spasm. The nerves report this pain and the central nervous system then interprets this muscle-spasm pain as a fresh injury which, in turn, produces more spasm, and more pain in a truly vicious circle.

One way to cope with this problem is conditioning or training. Muscles which have been gradually accustomed to strenuous activity and even pummeling are less likely to panic than those which are subjected to extra strain. By the time the doctor sees the victim of muscle or joint injury, however, the time for conditioning is long past. The physician then needs a drug to end the spasm-pain-spasm cycle.

A number of muscle relaxants have been developed, but recently one was reported which has the added property of relieving pain. Named Soma, for its action on the body's muscles and joints – soma is the Greek word for body – the new drug appears to be tailor-made for the kind of aches and pains that over-exerted, under-prepared flesh is heir to.

The drug also interests researchers because its pain-relieving action is completely different from that of morphine and its relatives and from that of aspirin and aspirin-like drugs. Soma, a prescription drug, eases pain without diminishing alertness. This should be helpful, since an ounce of alertness to the hazards of over-exertion is obviously worth several pounds of curative medicines.

NEW TAXES ARE UNNECESSARY, SAYS ASSEMBLYMAN FRANCIS

Charges that "new taxes are unnecessary and they will saddle the wage earners and their families" were leveled at the state administration by State Assemblyman Louis Francis, who represents Northern San Mateo county.

The state legislator declared at a joint luncheon meeting of the South San Francisco Kiwanis and Optimist Clubs that "Californians, their children and their grandchildren will be paying a stiff price for many years for the ambitious program of a new administration."

Francis reported that he voted against all tax measures, including cigarette and tobacco, beer, income taxes and others because he said that he realized the cost of each tax voted must in the end be paid by you.

He pointed out that in January the governor submitted to the State Legislature the largest budget in history, exceeding $2,202,000,000 for the 1959-60 fiscal year. At the same time, he proposed and demanded passage of seven major tax measures to raise over $250,000,000, he said.

"Immediately, I joined other legislators," Francis stated, "in objecting that new taxes and tax increases were unnecessary because of the large reserve funds of nearly $250,000,000 and the expected increased state revenues due to the rapidly improving economic situation. We fought each and every tax measure on that basis. We argued tirelessly for almost six months on the floor of the Assembly that the administration's program can only be paid by the people, with the heaviest burden falling on those with small and middle incomes.

"We also argued that new taxes should be avoided until all reserve funds were expanded. In the meantime, we demanded that the new administration operate on a sound "pay-as-you-go" and fiscal basis. It always has been my opinion that the State could maintain its public aid and services this year without new taxes since the huge reserve funds could be used to offset any deficit and provide for the necessary increased costs too. These surplus funds belonged to the people, who were already 'taxed to the hilt,' and should not be used for an ambitious program of a new administration. It was unjust to increase taxes on the people while the state was holding their money in reserve funds," said Francis.

"Nearly six months later, we were proved to be right. The governor and his director of finance admitted recently that they had underestimated state revenues by many millions of dollars. They had not correctly anticipated rapidly improving business conditions, although we had told them right along. They conceded that there would be a carry-over surplus from the current fiscal year, which amounted to nearly $14,000,000.

Francis stressed the upward spiral of state income, declaring that state revenues will continue to increase as rapidly and proportionately as the state's improved business cycle continues on its present trend.

"We know that the state was solvent without new taxes, and the saddling of more taxes on the already harassed wage earner and home owner makes life only more difficult and complicated for him and his families. This is particularly true for a large segment of our people living on fixed incomes."

"The imposition of unnecessary new taxes," Francis contended, "will only result in the tax collectors dipping their hands deeper and deeper into our pocket books. And there are no exceptions. This is especially dangerous to our economy and security in view of the inflationary threats all around us. We must pay more for cigarettes, beer and everything else."

2 Elementaries Ponder W'moor Joint Agreement

Dr. David Shapiro, who handles the business affairs for the Jefferson Elementary school District, said last week that the district is considering a search for a school site with members of the Laguna Salada board.

Shapiro stated that 455 Henry Doelger homes in the Westmoor tract would have to be served with school facilities. "It would be foolish for both districts to have schools within the same area," he noted.

The area Westlake 11, directly North of Pacifica, "will have to have a school whether Laguna Salada joins in the plan or not," Shapiro said.

Across from the site, from Skyline boulevard to Pacifica, lies a strip of land which could possibly house 300 Pacifica residents. "Some type of agreement will probably be made if the area is zoned as residential," Shapiro commented.

This Pacifica land could possibly fall under the jurisdiction of the JESD for school purposes, Shapiro said.

Laguna Salada Superintendent Fred Lucas last week suggested a possibility of meeting with the Pacifica city council and lanning commission before the board meets with Jefferson representatives.

Lucas said Laguna Salada is not anxious to trade away possible industrial land. Shapiro commented, "If the land is used for industrial purposes there won't have to be an agreement with Pacifica. In that case, the Jefferson elementary board will go on with plans to hose children from the Westmoor tract."

Carl Timmons, head engineer for Doelger, spoke to the Jefferson Board on July 27 concerning two possible sites. Shapiro said, "There have been no official talks and everything is still in the planning stage."

Fair Association Releases List Of Booths, Displays

The Pacific Pavilion at the San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta is a building that epitomizes human energy.

The space, donated to Community health and welfare organization by the Fair, will depict action of the groups in colored and black and white photo displays, mobiles, posters, life size models, mechanical guessing games and other means.

The largest area in the building will be shared by some 23 agencies of the United Crusade. A special feature of the United Crusade displays will be daily live demonstrations of the various activities of the organizations. Talents shows featuring agency entertainers will also be presented daily at 2:00 and 7:00 p.m. in the Pacific Pavilion.

The San Mateo County Sheriff's office will hold the attention of law abiding citizens with a large display featuring everything from an old time western office to pictorial displays. Nearly 40 trophies, won by the Junior Sherriff's posse during its four year's existence, as well as a large collection of police badges will be on display. In the Juvenile delinquency section, pictures and weapons confiscated from the young felons wil be shown. Another feature of the display is photos showing various investigations made by Sheriff Earl B. Whitmore's men.

An unusual and huge "Save Your Sight" mobile will top the display of the Eye Section and the San Mateo County Medical Society. Next door at the Sequoia Audubon Society booth, Fairgoers will study a variety of colorful pictures of Peninsula birds while an owl and moon rotate in a mobile overhead.

Year round activities, including athletic events as well as crafts, will be shown at the Boy's Club of San Mateo booth. Nearby Fairgoers will hear bells as they register correct answers on a mechanical quiz game on vision by the Optometric Society.

Always an attraction at the fair, the model railroad set up by Peninsula Model Railroad Association will again be running in the Pacific Pavilion.

Other organizations with booths include the ceramics department of the College of San Mateo, Sons of Norway, Women's Auxiliary, San Mateo Junior Chamber of Commerce, Junior Museu, Social Security, 17th District PTA, Muscular Dystrophy Association, Crystal Springs Rehabilitation Center of the San Mateo County Department of Public Health and Welfare, Peninsula Humane Society, Army Engineers, United States Coast Guard, United States Marines, KQED, Air Reserves, Civil Air Patrol, United States Naval Reserve, and the United States Navy.

Widows Eligible For Veteran Home Loans

San Mateo County Veterans' Service Officer Floyd D. Granger today advised widows of wartime veterans in this area that they may be eligible for state or federal home loans.

A widow of a California veteran may be eligible for a "Cal-Vet" loan if the veteran had established his eligibility as one who was born in or entered the service from this state. In other words, she would be in line for the loan to which the deceased veteran had established his unused right, if she has not remarried.

Cal-Vet loans are made of up to $15,000 for a home and $40,000 for a farm. The widow and the desired property would have to qualify along the same lines as for a veteran's loan, on the basis of income, debts, suitability of the property, and so forth.

In the case of federal "GI" loans, veterans' un-remarried widows of this or any state may be eligible if the death of the veteran resulted from a service-connected disability, or if the deceased died during service.

Such widows are eligible for either direct loans, from the Veterans Administration, or a loan guaranteed by the Veterans Administration, depending upon which type is available in the area where the loan is to be used. As in the case of Cal-Vet loans, qualification requirements are essentially the same for a widow as for a veteran.

Widows of World War II veterans must make application for federal GI loans before July 25, 1960 and widows of Korean Conflict veterans have until January 31, 1965.

There is no time limit on applications for Cal-Vet loans, either for widows or veterans.

Further information on these and other benefits for veterans, dependents and survivors is obtainable from the service office at the Courthouse in Redwood City.

VETERANS COLUMN

Q.—I understand the GI interest rate has been raised by law to 5¼ percent. Am I correct in thinking the higher rate applies only to new loans, and does not affect loans made before the new law?

A.—That is correct. Loans closed before July 2, 1959 are in no way affected by the new law. Only loans made on or after this date can be charged the new 5¼ percent interest.

Q.—My three-year-from-discharge deadline for starting school under the Korean GI Bill will come in August. Can I make application then, and start classes when school opens in September?

A.—No. You must actually be in school by your deadline. You may not make aplication before the deadline, with the idea of starting after it has passed.

Q.—I just got married, and can now claim more GI allowance money this fall as a GI student. What kind of evidence will VA need, so it can raise my school allowance?

A.—To claim an increased allowance, you should send VA a certified copy of either the public record or the church record of your marriage. It must bear the seal and signature of whoever keeps the records, in the church or court.

Q.—A veteran of my acquaintance is drawing extra pension payments because he requires constant nursing care. Would his payments be stopped if a member of his family provided this care, other than someone outside his family hired for the purpose?

A.—No. The extra payments would still continue if he nursing care is provided by a member of his family. The law does not specify who shall provide the regular aid and attendance necessary.

Going To Alaska? Buy Ticket Back Ahead Of Time

Planning to visit Alaska? Then be sure to bring money and buy a round-trip ticket ahead of time, warns Marc W. Johnson, Area Manager of the California Department of Employment.

The blunt truth, Johnson said, is that job opportunities are scare and living costs are high—from 19 per cent to 50 per cent higher than in Seattle, for example.

He quoted M. E. Weir, Director of the Alaska Employment Security Commission, as stating that unemployment figure usually run higher for Alaska than elsewhere in the United States. In March nearly 20 per cent of the labor force was jobless, compared with an average 5 per cent nationally.

"The resident work force in Alaska is more than adequate for most employer requirements," Weir stated. He added that no immediate large increase in employment is expected for Alaska.

Johnson said the San Francisco Local Offices of the Department receive monthly up-to-date Alaska job information. Persons with an eye to going to the 49th state should, by all means visit one of the local employment offices to learn what, if anything, might be available in their line of work.

"If you start out for Alaska regardless," Johnson concluded, "don't forget that round-trip ticket and plenty of money to meet your living expenses while you are there."

San Mateo County Volunteers Get Credit For Drive

San Mateo county's 5,000 volunteer workers for the local branch of the American Cancer Society are getting full credit for the continuing climb of the 1959 fund drive goal, now reaching toward the $95000 mark. The quota was $90,000.

Although the official drive is conducted in April each year, local residents and workers, notably in San Bruno, South San Francisco, and Daly City, are well aware of the fact that cancer doesn't wait for annual drives, and their contributions are still coming in. We are deeply grateful," says county Cancer Society President Mrs. Albert A. Hedge.

During the coming year, the Cancer Society hopes through programs of public and professional education to bring about a reduction in mortality. due to cancer of the colon and of the rectum, reports Mrs. Hedge. These are common types of cancer which are being diagnosed at the rate of about 60,000 annually throughout the United States. More than half of these occur in women.

Mrs. Hedge points out that although potentially these cancers are highly curable, they so often are discovered at a late stage that at present the cure rate is less than one in three.

Most cancers of this type develop in people past 45, she reminds. However, they may also occur among the young. Sixty to 70 per cent can be diagnosed in routine health checkups, and research is progressing on diagnostic methods that may make it simpler to detect the disease.

Cancer of the colon and rectum are among the forms of cancer discussed in a free pamphlet entitled, "Cancer of the Digestive Tract," available without charge at the county CS office at 320 Third avenue in San Mateo.

"It may well prove to be the best reading a person can do, because it can save a life," emphasizes Mrs. Hedge.

ASSEMBLYMAN LOUIS FRANCIS WRITES ON NEW BENEFIT BILL

Graphic evidence of the impact of inflation on our California economy is given by the changes made by the 1959 Legislature in our state unemployment and disability insurance laws. Benefits for works who become unemployed or suffer off-the-job disabilities were upped, but so were the employer taxes which pay for the unemployment insurance system.

Three major laws were enacted to make these changes. Two relate to jobless pay, the third to disability insurance.

Starting September 18 the maximum weekly unemployment insurance payment for workers who qualify will be increased from the current $40 to $55. This will give California workers the highest weekly maximum in the nation, and is close to double the amount secured in any previous legislative session in the past 15 years. The highest increase in unemployment benefits previously was $7.

To offset the cost of paying these more liberal benefits, the same law makes two different kind of changes in the tax provisions, both of which mean higher costs for California employers. The first, which goes into effect next January 1, raises the tax "base" by which taxes are measured from the present $3000 per year to $3600, thus upping employers' taxes by roughly 20 percent. The second, effective January 1, 1961, replaces the present zero tax rate for employers with good employment records by a new minimum rate of three tenths of one percent of payroll, and increases the present top rate from 2.7 percent to 3 percent of payroll.

On the basis of preliminary estimates, an addition of about $50 million per year will be paid in jobless benefits under the new law. The increased costs to employers under the two changes referred to has been fixed at somewhere near $60 million per year.

The second unemployment compensation bill writes permanently into our California law a provision for extended jobless compensation similar to the temporary program of the federal government which was started in 1958. The new system would be financed by a new tax levied on all employers subject to the law, payable in addition to their regular unemployment insurance taxes. At the same time, California employers will have to repay approximately $56 million to cover benefits paid under the federal government's temporary unemployment insurance program, in effect from July, 1958.

When the new law goes into effect this September, a worker who has used up all the benefits due him under the regular jobless benefit program will be able to qualify for additional weekly benefits if the rate of unemployment in the state exceeds a ratio set in the act at the time he files his claim. Up to 13 weeks of benefits will be payable at the worker's regular weekly amount.

A special feature of this new law calls for the payment of weekly benefits to workers who use up these additional benefits, but who afterward enroll in approved retraining classes for insruction in new kinds of work. Benefits will be payable until the completion of such classes.

The new tax for this program is fixed to range from a low of five hundredths of one percent of payroll to a high of twenty hundredths. It will first be payable for 1959 (in 1960), and the rate will be the same for all employers.

The new disability insurance law makes but one major change. Effective January 1, 1960, the maximum weekly cash benefit will be increased from $50 to $65. The hospital benefit was left unchanged at $12 per day for a maximum of 20 days.

Mission Street Lot Dumping Discussed

Tony Silvera was appointed by the board to find out the owners names and see that the public does not dump garbage at the Mission street lot in the future.

JEFF HIGH GETS READY

EXPENSES mount when a school readies for opening a new year. Mrs. Ruth Thrall, cashier for Jefferson High School, starts the typing and addition of figures while principal John Mongan oversees the expenditures.

SUMMER CLEANING HERE TOO

Jeff Principal Gets Ready For New Semester

Jefferson High School students look on the August to September period as one last month of vacation, but Principal John Mongan sees it in a different light.

Mongan, like other high school principals, has to be ready to house 3026 pupils, provide testing equipment and supervise maintenance of school facilities.

He said, "Currently there are 730 students attending summer school and before the school year begins all rooms have to be cleaned and the floors refinished. Desks and general repairs must be made in classrooms, and ranges in the cafeteria must be cleaned."

Each summer also finds the maintenance men busy on the gymnasium floor and the cleaning of business machines and typewriters.

This year, Mongan says, a new roof will have to be put on the gymnasium as a safety factor.

One of his main considerations is staffing of teachers and clerical workers. "Filling jobs during the summer for teaching positions is hard. Teachers resign or illness forces them to resign and it is hard to hire them during the transitionary period."

The five-year Jefferson principal has to order all general supplies and have them on hand for opening day. This includes text and library books as well as supplies for auto, machine, wood, electrical shop and the photography and art departments.

Testing material must be ready for the school psychologists and achievement tests in language, science, mathematics and reading must be given, he stated.

Mongan joined the Jefferson staff as Dean of Boys in 1938. After a four year tour in the Navy he returned to his former position and was promoted to vice-principal shortly thereafter. In 1954 he was named principal.

TV and Radio

By Mona Baker

Well, it's that time again when we look into our crystal ball and see what is in store for you in the sparkling new fall TV season ahead . . . and sparkle it does, if our advance releases from the networks are any indication. Several trends stand out—there will be more color and more informational programming in prime evening viewing time.

NBC has great plans for color with an increase of 30% over the same period last year, running the gamut from eleven football games to live drama, opera and variety. Three series of specials scheduled for Sunday, Tuesday and Friday nights, most of which will be in color. Included are "My Fair Lady," "Gigi," "A Toast to Jerome Kern," Shakespeare's "The Tempest," Sir Laurence Olivier in "The Moon and Sixpence," and twelve bell telephone hour music specials.

The CBS network has exciting plans too, including four 90-minute dramatic programs based on the writings of Ernest Hemmingway, Charles Dickens' "Oliver Twist," "CBS Reports," hour-long informational programs once a month in prime evening viewing time, a musical version of "The Devil and Daniel Webster" as "Playhouse 90" special, and because of countless requests a repeat of the screen classic "The Wizard of Oz," a two-hour colorcast.

ABC television announces that 64 percent of their nighttime schedule is new programming. One of the most interesting programs planned is "John Gunther's High Road," a new adventure-travel series, and "The Alaskans," an adventure program set in the Yukon of 1898. Over "Walt Disney Presents," six one-hour dramas titled "The Swamp Fox," and a two-part Little League yarn, "Moochie of the Little League." Sure to please bridge fans "Championship Bridge With Charles Goren" will be launched in October.

These programs are only a sampling of the many goodies coming your way this fall—yours to enjoy, from that front row seat in your living room, by merely turning on the dial.

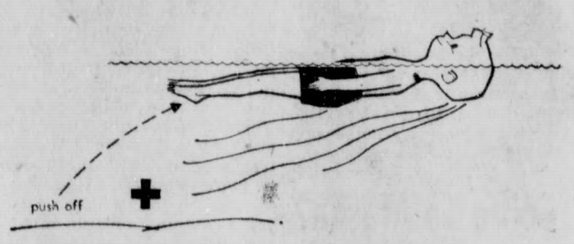
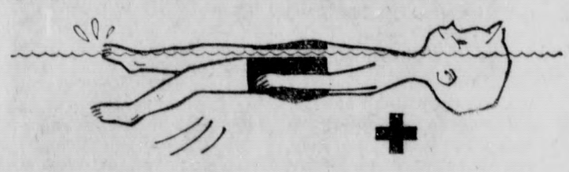
TEACHING JOHNNY TO SWIM

SERIES THREE



To float on his back, Johnny squats in waist-deep water until his shoulders are below the surface. With his head tilted back and ears in water so that he is looking straight up, he stretches his arms to his side with the palms up. He then lifts his hips as close to the surface as possible to put him in the back float position. To do the back glide, illustrated in this picture, he takes the squatting position to do the back float and pushes back hard.



The back kick glide, shown here, simply adds the "steamboat" kick to the back glide. He should be able to move at least two body lengths before going on to the next step. Care must be taken to prevent him from kicking into deep water.

Now Johnny is ready for a back stroke, finning. From their position as in the back glide, his hands should be moved up along his body for a distance of two or three inches. Then have him turn them out so that the palms are facing toward the feet, and, without stopping, push them back into place. The movement should be continued without interruption. When he adds the kick to this movement he will be swimming on his back.

DC's Albert Howard On Carrier Cruise

Albert E. Howard, seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Howard of 346 Atlanta street, Daly City, is serving aboard the attack aircraft carrier USS Oriskany, undergoing a "shakedown cruise" (initial training cruise) off the coast of southern California.

The Oriskany, operating out of San Diego, recently completed a two-year overhaul period at the San Francisco Naval Shipyard. Converting to an "angled deck" and the safer and more efficient "steam" catapults which replaced the hydraulic type, the carrier has now taken on the appearance of the Navy's new super attack carriers.

Bible School To Begin At W'lake Lutheran Church

"Christmas in August" will be the theme for the day next Friday when children attending Daily Vacation Bible School at Westlake Lutheran, 222 Avalon drive, bring small gifts for youngsters of other lands.

A Christmas tree, carol singing, and refreshments will be included in the festivities. This early collection of gifts will mean that they will reach foreign shores in time for the holidays.

The event will be one of many special features to highlight the two-week school which begins on Monday and ends Friday, August 21. Daily sessions will begin at 9 a.m. each day, Monday through Friday, and end at 11:45. TO 'CLEAN HOUSE'

Director Of Employment Continues Investigation Of Placement Abuses

John E. Carr, Director of Employment, today pledged that his investigation of his agency's Farm Placement Section would continue until he was convinced that responsibility had been fixed.

Speaking to a group of departmental employees in Los Angeles, Carr emphasized that the Department's staff is comprised of "for the most part very fine, dedicated people and it is for their protection as much as for any other reason that we propose that the only possible action to be taken is to clean house so everybody can go up and down the streets and meet their fellow men face to face and say, 'I have nothing to hide'."

"When we get the responsibility fixed," he continued, "then we will examine the circumstances, mitigating circumstances or any other kind of circumstances, and take what in our best judgment seems to be appropriate action."

Commenting on the matter of utilization of domestic agricultural workers, the employment director said, "There are many domestic farm workers who are ready, willing and able to comply with the conditions that they have a prior right to the jobs that are being held by Mexican Nationals in the State of California and who never get a chance to exercise that prior right. They not only don't get the chance but they are deliberately horned off by people in our Department whose obligation it is to assure them that prior right."

Carr said that the point of his investigation was not just a case of somebody accepting a grapefruit, or a bottle of whiskey which was of no use to him, or of responding to "ordinary courtesy, friendship or ordinary California hospitality.

"It went," he said, "to the point of a regular, traditional, long-time abuse of power and authority. It went into a shakedown racket. It went into the dispatching of state personnel and state automobiles to pick up merchandise and distribute it to a list of friends for purely other than business uses, and the worst part of it was—it went to the requirement of state employees falsifying travel records and falsifying reports, in order to cover this up. Now I submit to you that any governmental agency cannot hold still for that kind of stuff."

Carr stressed that persons privileged to serve the public hold a public trust to serve ably and honorably, and said that this was another reason why responsibility for any misbehavior would be fixed first at the top, no matter how high that may be.

College Heights Campus To Have Planetarium

Two scale models of the Planetarium planned for the College Heights Campus were shown to the board of trustees of the San Mateo Junior College District at the special meeting of July 29. The preparation of the models was in response to a previous request by board members in order to view the proposed building in perspective.

One scale model, in concrete and wood, was developed by board chairman U. S. Simonds, Jr. A smaller model was prepared by staff members of John Warnecke and Associates, architects for the new campus.

Following examination by the board of the Planetarium models, College of San Mateo President Dr. Julio Bortollazo reviewed problems regarding function of the building. Representatives of the architectural firm indicated solutions of problems previously posed in board study of the building plan. The trustees recommended further investigation of the possible aesthetic advantages of reducing the base units of the building from four to three, suggesting also that delicate relief might be used on the units.

Additional consideration of the roof structure for the new campus gymnasium brought two two recommendations from the architects. Deending on economy, the roof should be of protected steel or reinforced concrete. Also suggested was that the roof be sloped, on the basis of continuity of appearance with the remainder of the campus.

In closing the session, Dr. Bortolazzo suggested a calendar of future meetings for regular District business and further study of campus planning.

Discussion of budget for the College Heights campus is scheduled for August 12, while August 19 is the target date for possible final approval of preliminary plans for the campus.

The co-called Monterey-type boat used at San Francisco's Fisherman's Wharf had its origins on the Nile and was used for centuries in the Mediterranean.

KUSBERS TAKE SECOND PLACE FOR FUCHSIAS

Fuchsia enthusiasts Joseph and Dora Kusber, 60 Werner avenue, Daly City, have won second prize for their group of eight entries at the San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta which ends Saturday.

This year, the San Mateo Fuchsia Society won the blue ribbon for plants but the El Camino Fuchsia Society won first place on their educational booth.

The Kusbers won five blue ribbons last year on behalf of the El Camino Fuchsia Society of which they are members. Joe Kusber is president of the society.

Because of the cool Daly City fog, the full blooming of the plants were delayed. However, the many beautiful varieties of the fuchsias will be in their glory in a few weeks with the coming of warmer weather.

In order that others may enjoy the beauty of their plants and garden, the Kusbers will hold an open house on Sunday, August 16, from 6-9 p.m.

All Jefferson High School PTA members, their friends, and the general public are cordially invited to view the gardens, along with the Daly City Garden Club and El Camino Fuchsia Society members. There is no charge.

Afterglow, Ball of Fire, Mama Bleuss, and Miss Universe are among some of the fuchsias entered at the Fair.

Daly City folks will have a chance to see some of these plants at the September Garden Club show here. Dora Kusber is president of the Jefferson High PTA.

Boy Scouts Leave For Camp Royaneh

Approximately 25 boys from Boy Scout Troop 243 left on August 2 to spend a week at Camp Royaneh near Cazadero. They were accompanied by Asst. Scoutmaster Joel Cook and Committeemen Ed Ciabattari and Ralph Hammock.

On Monday night the troop will assemble at Jefferson High for a swim session in lieu of a regular meeting. All fathers are invited to join in the fun on this night.

A hike to Thornton Beach is scheduled for August 17th instead of an assembled meeting. A weenie roast will be held at the beach, and the boys will be given an opportunity to qualify on Second Class Scout requirements.

The regular monthly Troop Committee meeting will be held at 8 p.m., August 26th, at the home of Mr. Art Ramos, 249 Hillcrest Drive. Parents are urged to attend these meetings to help in the administration of the troop.

The quarterly Court of Honor will be held in Our Lady of Perpetual Help School auditorium, August 31, beginning at 7:30 P.M. A large turout is expected for this event. Coffee and cake will be served after the presenation of awards to the boys.

San Franciscan Pays $500 Bail

Daniel Franco, 33, 42 Duval drive, South San Francisco, told police he saw a car quickly approaching in back of him and took his foot off the brake though he was stopped at an intersection.

He said a car driven by William Drummond, 51, did moderate damage to his car's rear end Thursday night at the W. Market and Mission streets intersection.

Drummond, a carpenter of 512 Brazil street, San Francisco was arrested for drunk driving after he failed a sobriety test administered at Junipero Serra Hospital.

Drummond was released on $500 bail and is due to appear in Municipal Court today.

Something For Everyone

At its midpoint the summer reading program of the Daly City Public Libraries has proved successful.

According to Rose Marie Kraus, children's librarian, it is gratifying to see the goodly number of children who are reading books as directed. Each child, Miss Kraus explained, chooses the book he desires and takes them home to read; later he returns to the library and makes an oral book report. Thereupon his name is placed on a magic carpet. When he has finished twenty books his name is placed in a magic circle which is in a prominent place in the library.

Special honors for those children who excell in the program are being planned by Mrs. Martha Cohn and Mrs. Howard Stites of the Friends of the Daly City Library. Mrs. Cohn reports that these honors will make the child remember the pleasant time he had on the magic carpet of reading.

It is not too late to enter the program. Many boys and girls are entering every week. Some of them come to the library with their parents; some with friends or older brothers and sisters; some just by themselves. All are finding this program to be fun and beneficial.

The addresses of the librarians are 6351 Mission and 34 Park Plaza. Miss Kraus is in charge of the program in the Mission street branch and Mrs. Loris Irick is in charge at the Park Plaza branch.

JEFF HIGH GRAD MAKES FIRST TV APPEARANCE

Miss Arlene Hedrick, 20, made her first "Day in Court" a happy one.

Garden Clubbers Walk Off With SM Fair Prizes

The Daly City Garden Club helped to celebrate the San Mateo County Fiesta's Silver Anniversary by competing in the amateur division by winning their share of the ribbon awards. In the Educational and Scientific Section, Mrs. Edmund Kohlhauf won a blue ribbon first prize award for her interpretation in a flower arrangement in "A Fisherman's Dream" section.

Mrs. Kohlhauf also won a second prize red ribbon for her flower arrangement in the "Modern Ornamental Design" section. This class is open only to lecturers and instructors.

In the club projects section, "After the Ball," the DC Club's room display won a second-place red ribbon for its modern oriental room design. In the novice class of the amateur section, Mrs. Joseph P. Schultz won a blue ribbon first prize award for her entry in the "Roadside Beauty" section, and an honorary mention award for her "Happy Birthday" arrangement.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Hunter won a blue ribbon first prize award for the third consecutive year for their potted plant booth for the San Mateo Garden Center, which contained entries from all the garden clubs on the peninsula.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kusber won the highly competitive first prize blue ribbon award for their El Camino Branch Fuchsia Society for the educational exhibit. These avid fuchsia growers also took away a second prize red ribbon award for their fuchsia exhibit.

All these energetic garden clubbers are looking forward to their own Sixth Annual Flower Show, which will be held at the War Memorial Building on Sunday, September 13, when once again they will be hard at work to stimulate and encourage others in the community in the practice of good gardening and the fine art of flower arranging.

Garden Chairman Receives Award

Mrs. Dora Hunter received the blue ribbon award as chairman for the third year in a row for the San Mateo Garden Center this week at the San Mateo Fair and Floral Fiesta.

The blue ribbon award consists also of $150 which will go into the club's fund. Mrs. Hunter and husband, Dick, have lived in Daly City for the past 11 years at 438 Crocker avenue.

Dora is in charge of the plant table for the Daly City Garden Club and Dick is treasurer for the San Mateo Garden Center and a past treasurer of the Daly City Garden Club.

While the Hunters were winning honors here, a granddaughter, Lynn Nesbitt, received a Citizenship Award at a Sacramento high school and was feted at an "after graduation" party.

US Scientist Aids German Food Lab

A University of California scientist has been chosen to assist Western Germany in setting up its first laboratory for measuring chemical residues in imported citrus fruit.

Francis A. Gunther, insect toxicologist at Riverside, is on two-month leave to establish the facility, financed by German citrus importers and American growers. The laboratory is to be located in Hamburg.

He will help choose analytical instruments and train scientists in specialized techniques developed at the Citrus Experiment Station here since 1941.

The Hamburg laboratory will provide data to administrators of West German food legislation to take effect in December.

The new law requires that safe limits on residues of agricultural chemicals be established (similar to those set by the U. S. Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act) in order for citrus and other farm products to be imported.

Gunther will also deliver an invitational address on pesticide residues September 4 at the 17th International Congress of Pure and Applied Chemistry, in Munich.

LAW IN ACTION

THE SHERIFF

The sheriff, the common law's oldest peace officer, was the "keeper of the county" or "the shire" in old England. There he and the constable commanded the king's forces, kept his jails, and, as court officers, carried out the court orders or writs.

Today the police largely keep the peace in our cities. In the county the sheriff keeps the jail, and, with the district attorney and the attorney general, fights crime.

But mostly the sheriff works for the trial courts, serves summons, writs, and subpoenas. The constable does these things for the justice courts; and the United States Marshal, for the federal courts.

If you win a lawsuit, the sheriff enforces the court judgment, perhaps taking over the loser's property, keeping it, and selling it to pay you off. He also conducts sheriff foreclosure sales.

Who enforces a court writ or someone to take down a fence, to stop burning rubbish, to move a non-paying tenant out, or to stop a nuisance? The sheriff.

Before judgment in a lawsuit, you may have property attached, and the sheriff keeps it for the winner. He is responsible for all such property, and may have to make it up if it is lost.

Sometimes a party in a lawsuit attaches property that is not his opponent's. Anyone claiming it, as a rule, may get it if he puts up a bond to protect the sheriff from loss.

The sheriff's fees go to the county treasury for services he does for litigants in the court's name.

gm.

In early California the sheriff named the deputies he needed, but today the county charters, boards of supervisors, or civil service commissions often set the numbers.

SF Planetarium Offers Visitors Special Trip

The audiences at Morrison Planetarium in Golden Gate Park get the strange sensation that they have been unwittingly transported to Cape Carnaveral in Florida.

In 'Men, Moons and Rockets," the current and spectacular summer presentation at the California Academy of Sciences, man-made satellites such as the Vanguard, Explorer, Atlas, and X-15 streak across the Planetarium sky, followed by strange, never-before-seen devices such as a satellite fashioned out of rocket bodies, an Atlas manned satellite, and a wheel-shaped space station.

Looking further into the future, the planetarium astronomers give the audience a glimpse of a possible lunar circumnavigating rocket, a lunar landing rocket and an atomic-powered interplanetary rocket, as well as views of strange and alien spatial worlds as they may appear to the first astronauts.

Considered one of the most dramatic shows ever to be presented at the Planetarium, "Men, Moons and Rockets" will continue to be shown daily, Tuesday through Sunday, at 2:15, 3:30 and 8:30 p.m., with an extra performance at 1 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, through September 13.

PG&E Protests Ruling Made By FPC Examiner

Pacific Gas and Electric Company asked the Federal Power Commission today to deny a $4.5 million natural gas price increase requested by Phillips Petroleum Co. of Bartlesville, Okla., because such an increase ultimately would raise costs to California consumers.

PG&E filed objections to a recommendation by an FPC examiner that Phillips, a gas producer, be allowed to increase its gas prices to El Paso Natural Gas Co., which supplies about 70 per cent of the natural gas distributed by PG&E to its customers in northern and central California. In 1958 PG&E purchased $80 million worth of gas from El Paso—about 40 per cent of El Paso's interstate sales.

FPC Examiner Joseph Zwerdling concluded earlier this year that Phillips' costs exceeded its revenues from El Paso. He recommended to Federal Power Commissioners that Phillips be authorized to increase gas prices above levels set in the Phillips-El Paso contracts.

In a brief submitted to the FPC in Washington, D. C., PG&E pointed out, however, that FPC Examiner Zwerdling had included a substantial amount to defray claimed exploration costs in determining Phillips' prices to El Paso. In fact, PG&E said, Phillips buys from other producers more than 90 per cent of the gas it sells to El Paso, incurring negligible exploration costs in these purchases.

State Employees Purchase Bonds

California state employees purchased a record $4,759,950 in United States Savings Bonds through the payroll deduction plan in the 1958-59 fiscal year, State Controller Alan Cranston reported today.

That total compares with $4,457,975 for 1957-58, Cranston said.

Canston said bond purchases by state employees probably would eclipse the $5 million mark in the current fiscal year because of greater participation by employees.

He said 15,466 state employees participated in the payroll deduction plan in the 1958-59 fiscal year. Approximately 7000 more were signed up for the program in a recruitment campaign last April, Cranston said.

Virus 'Feeding' Bacteria Found

A scientist at the Virus Laboratory of the University of California has succeeded for the first time in breaking down a virus into several types of well-defined particles — an achievement that will give researchers a new tool with which to study the structure and function of viruses.

The breakdown was achieved by Dr. Benjamin E. Volcani, Berkeley virus researcher who has just been appointed professor of microbiology at the University's La Jolla campus.

The scientist's experiments—which are being published in the Proceedings of the International Congress of Biochemistry—resulted in the discovery of a previous unknown species of bacteria which is able to "feed" on the tobacco mosaic virus in the process of sustaining its own growth.

Dr. Volcani's finding complements the discovery, made several years ago by U. C. virus researchers, that the protein and nucleic acid components of the mosaic virus can be separated by means of chemical treatment.

But the chemical method of splitting the virus produces complete and instantaneous breakdown, giving only limited information as to viral structure. To discover how the virus is constructed, it was necessary to find a way of taking apart the virus step by step.

In a mud sample from Strawberry Creek on the Berkeley campus, Dr. Volcani found an organism that could do just this. From a culture originally containing eight types of bacteria, he isolated a brilliant yellow bacterium that is able to dismantle the tobacco mosaic virus into differently shaped particles.

It was found that the virus could be split into any of four distinct geometrics: (1) small cylindrical rods, (2) thin discs, or "doughnuts," (3) very fine sperical granules, and (4) particles of uneven sizes and shapes.

It is not yet understood why the virus splits into these special sub-structures, or how the bacterial attack is accomplished.

Safety first for your savings, too, is another way of saying: Buy U. S. Savings Bonds. Nothing's safer.

Radio Messages May Be Sent Free At County Fair

Free radio messages to anyone in the world will be sent from the Fiesta Exhibit of the United Crusade at the San Mateo County Fair located in the Pacific Pavilion by members of the San Mateo County Council of Boy Scouts, a United Crusade agency.

Under the direction of Larry Enright, scout executive, Explorer Scouts will man the special equipment from 6 to 10 p.m. daily. They will transmit messages on the short wave lengths upon request of visitors.

Enright explained, "older boy scouts receive special training in ham radio operation, this training often times proves invaluable, not only to the boy, but to others, through the saving of lives and averting of disasters."

If you want to see what happens to the dollars given to the United Crusade, visit the special Fiesta Crusade Booth in the Pacific Pavilion, during the San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta this week.

Throughout the nine-day fiesta, volunteer workers of the 23 member Crusade agencies will man a special exhibit and will present two special shows each day.

Mrs. Virginia B. Davis and Mrs. Pearl C. Favors are co-chairmen of a Fiesta Planning Committee which has arranged the displays at the Crusade Booth. Each display will show the work and results of member agencies.

In addition, the Crusaders will conduct live talent shows and movies on a twice daily schedule for the pleasure of Fair visitors.

Among the "acts" already planned for the week is a trio of three high school students who will represent the Peninsula YMCA. The musical group, including a guitar and bongo drum, imitates the famed Kingston Trio and will be on hand daily at either the 2 p.m. or the 7 p.m. show.

The Visiting Nursing Association has prepared a special four-minute skit. Other acts include a costumed song and dance program by 10 Japanese girls from the Central Girl Scout Council, Spanish dancers, and a special quartet.

Mrs. Favors said, "In addition to the half-hour talent programs, we will show movies continuously throughout the fair." Agencies showing movies, some are in color, include the Cerebral Palsy of San Mateo County, Family Service Agency, Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Peninsula YMCA, and the Community Council.

The movies will be shown on a screen eight feet above the ground throughout the day except during the 2 and 7 p.m. talent shows.

Talent Round-up Held By Mizpah

There are predictions of an outstanding show next October by those who attended the Talent Round-up sponsored by the Mizpah Fellowship recently at the Veterans of Foreign Wars hall. The applause was long and sincere as talented Coastsiders displayed their specialties for the directors of the annual Mizpah variety show.

The show, titled The Coastside Capers, will be held in October at the Linda Mar School. The theme will be the history of the Coastside and a humorous script has been written by Grace Ayres. Musical director will be Mr. Stephen Holness.

There is still a need for more acts and anyone interested may call Allene Orchard, director of the show, EL 9-3169, or Virginia Brown, assistant director, FL 5-2528.

Among those who performed at the Round-up were: Per Hillerstrom, singer; Juanita Lombardi, actress; Bob and Wanda Gale, square dancers; Liza Elgin, character dancer; Barbara Harry, singer; Margaret Daily, singer, Elsie Pearson, Spanish singer; Angel Stewart, artist; Ralph Barkey, pantomimist, Sharron Mahnken, dancer; Edith Ashworth, skit; Helen Kattleman, actress; Teddie Higgins, singer; MaryJo Willey, dancer; Tom Jeans, piano and bagpipes, and Bernice Hill, accompanist.

Free Literature On Rheumatism Available At Fair

Arthritis and rheumatism sufferers may register at two special booths at the San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta this week.

The registrations, sponsored by the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation, a United Crusade agency, will entitle fair visitors to free medically-approved information about the disease as well as to part-pay medical assistance.

Harold M. Knowles, San Mateo county chairman, said "This registration is part of a drive throughout Northern California to obtain names and addresses of arthritics so that we may give them as much help as possible." She stated that this is not a campaign to solicit funds and that all names are kept confidential.

Registration cards are available from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. at the United Crusade exhibit in the Pacific Pavilion and, also, at the Boy Scout information booth on the main concourse of the fairgrounds. The San Mateo fair opened Friday, July 31, and will continue through Saturday, August 8.

"As a local committee of the Northern Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation, we are able to offer part-pay medical assistance to arthritics at nine clinics in the San Francisco bay area," Knowles added.

The registration campaign is being conducted throughout Northern California to prevent "needless crippling" because of lack of proper knowledge and sound medical treatment.

HOUSEWIVES PLEASE COPY—"Instant" bread, at right, produced from a revolutionary new instant bread mix developed by the U.S. Army Quartermaster Corps, reduces by approximately 70 percent the time now required to produce the standard baked loaf at left. Expected also to bring corresponding reductions in manpower and amount of baking equipment needed, the new mix will considerably enhance Quartermaster capability of supplying food to highly-mobile combat units of today's modern Army.

Weeks ago, under Watts' proposed new budget totaling $1.6 million, the necessary tax levy would have been about $1.02. A special census subsequently gave Daly City more state fund entitlement and reduction in the various department requests lowered the tax estimate to about 96 cents.

Watts' proposal for 21 new personnel has been trimmed to about 17. Thus the 90 cents tax probability—certainly the lowest of any comparable community on the Peninsula and in city Bay Area, for that matter.

DC Tournament Of Champions Set For War Memorial Center

As the Daly City Department of Parks and Recreation summer program enters its final weeks, activity is in the picture at all recreation sites.

The War Memorial is getting ready for the "Tournament of Champions" which will be held next week. The following boys are presently leading in tournament play:

The Westmoor Night Program has been going full swing. Badminton, volleyball and basketball have been offered to the public. Some of the teenagers who have been enjoying this activity are Bill and Jim Mannion, George Petroffsky, Charles Dake, Dale Keckler, Tony Smith, Harry Brown, Dennis Virgen, Duane Hammond, Ron Williams, George Herbst, Mickey Holmgren, Sue Axe, Betsy Buckingham, Judy West, Leond Sunseri, Sherry Nasser, and Ann Mori.

A new experience for many, and lots of fun for all was had at the Sigmund Stern Outing. Tennis, playground apparatus, and the hike to Pine Lake were some of the activities.

Colma School Playground recently held a "Hobo Day." Each Hobo-dressed child brought a vegetable so that the group could make "Mulligan Stew."

After eating, there was a contest judging the best "Hobo." Steve Camp, Machel and Debbie Cresspi, Debbie Camp, won honors. In Walking the Rail Contest, Eddie Montoya, Berry Pinone, Bobby Clipper received prizes. In the Bag Race, Wayne Silver was First, Joe Marchi second, and Eddie Montoya third.

The Marchbankers recently went to Montara Beach for an outing. The day was spent climbing the hills and playing softball and football on the sand. George and Rosemary Stabile joined Tammie, Lannie and Teddy Shaddox in building a sand fort which fell down with the first wave. The mothers who so very kindly furnished transportation, seemed to have as much fun as the children. The teen-age group was well represented by Phyllis Stoller, Dianna Davidson, and Gail Tobarez. When everyone had all the desired beach activity, the group returned home very tired, but happy.

On a nice and sunny day, 34 children marched out of Frankfort Playground towards the "Muni" Bus Stop for a day at the Golden Gate Park. Feeding the squirrels and catching butterflies were the main purposes of the special activity. Even with an impatient number of 34 children, squirrels were fed and three butterflies were caught. After a fun-filled day, the children from Frankfort Playground came dragging home.

Following up the Zoo Trip taken by many children from different parks and playgrounds, they heard Dr. Sevss's story "If I Ran The Zoo." It was an imaginative story of make-believe animals.

Starting next week the children of Lincoln playground will begin working on Three Billy Goats Gruff. It will be dramatized for presentation at the Summer Round-Up at the end of the summer.

COLMA-CROCKER IN PLAY-OFF

The Colma Class A team upset the undefeated Crocker team by a score of 7-2 in the final game of the schedule. This victory gives Colma a tie with Crocker for league winners. A play-off was held on Wednesday at Marchbanks Park. At the same time Marchbanks and Vista Grande played off a tie for third place.

With one game to go, the Class B standings show Marchbanks and Colma tied in the East League and Garden Village leading in the West league. Lincoln is trailing by one game.

The regular schedules in the C leagues are completed. In the West C League, Westlake School came out on top with 5 wins and no defeats; Olympia finished second with 4 wins; Garden Village third with 3 wins; Westlake Park 2 wins; Lincoln 1 win; Westmoor no wins.

The East C league finished with Marchbanks on top with 4 wins. Jefferson, Vista Grande and Garden Village tied for second with 3 wins. Crocker and Colma tied for fifth with one victory each.

DOVE, PIGEON SEASONS GIVEN

At its July 27 meeting, the Fish and Game Commission formally adopted hunting seasons for doves and bandtailed pigeons. Doves may be hunted from September 1 through 30, and bandtailed pigeons may be hunted October 1 through 31 in the northern counties of Del Norte, Siskiyou, Modoc, Lassen, Shasta, Humboldt, Mendocino, Trinity and Tehama. In the rest of the state, pigeons may be hunted from December 11 through January 10.

The bag limit on pigeons is six a day and no person may possess more than this number at any one time.

On doves, the bag limit is 10 per day. Possession limit is also 10. The limit may be of either species or the aggregate of both species (mourning or turtle doves and white-winged doves).

Nuclear Particle Photographed

Photographs exhibiting the presence of "strange" particles of anti-matter called antilambdas, have been taken in the new 6-foot bubble chamber at the University of California's Lawrence Radiation Laboratory.

One such protograph was shown to the International Conference on High Energy Physics, meeting recently in Kiev, Russia. A report on the work was made public simultaneously by the Laboratory in Berkeley and by the Atomic Energy Commission in Washington, D.C. The AEC supports the program of fundamental research in the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory.

The nuclear particles, generated in bombardments by the atom-smashing Bevatron, have been photographed by a group headed by Dr. Luis W. Alvarez, professor of physics and associate director of the Lawrence Radiation Laboratory. The experiment was run by Dr. Lynn Stevenson, assistant professor of physics, and Dr. Philippe Eberhard, physicist on leave from the Centre National de la Recherche Scientifique de France.

The photograph shown in Kiev is the second record of a nuclear event involving an antilambda. The first antilambda was observed on photoemulsion plates exposed in the pi meson beam at the Bevatron last year. The scientists who reported this event were Dr. D. J. Prowse, of the University of California at Los Angeles, and M. Baldo - Ceolin, of the University of Padova, Italy.

The bubble chamber photograph is the first record of the complete reaction containing the antilambda, including the particle which started the chain of events.

WATCH THOSE SOUTHPAWS!

HARRY KROHN, co-manager of the Daly City Drugs nine, keeps a watchful eye on his two young pitching stars, son Barry and Terry Christman. Both Westmoor High students have tossed no-hitters for the Drugs team while leading them to the top of the San Francisco Recreation Department "C" League and the Sunday Northern Peninsula High School League. THE RECORD photo

Krohn, Christman Pace Strong DC Drugs Nine

It's no wonder that Daly City Drugs is marching on toward two league titles with the two left arms of Barry Krohn (14 wins, 1 loss) and Terry Christman (13 wins, 2 losses) tossing them in at the opposition.

Tag this along with able coaching from Harry Krohn, Barry's father and a former catcher for Sacramento and Portland in the Pacific Coast League, and Lowell Creighton, who has seen much sandlot baseball service, and a scrappy eight men backing the two hurlers and the ingredients for success are accounted for.

Both Christman and Krohn started playing when they were seven years old. They will both be juniors at Westmoor this fall and, again, shared honors as All-Peninsula lightweight basketball players. Christman and Krohn also starred as outfielders for the Westmoor Frosh-Soph nine last year.

Krohn was selected as the All - PAL league rightfielder. In addition, he chucked a 5-4 win over Mills High School.

Both hurlers tossed no-hitters for the Drugs team

Judging from the near identical records posted by Christman and Krohn, Westmoor High's baseballers should be in good shape when a southpaw takes to the mound next summer.

Goods Stolen From Wilson Residence

Mrs. Alice Wilson, 99 Vendome avenue, reported to police that $65 worth of goods and cash were taken from her home between 8:30 p.m. last Thursday and 6 p.m. Friday.

Items that were stolen included an electric shaver, cigarettes, a pint of whiskey, a fifth of vodka and five dollars in change. Mrs. Wilson believed that someone had found her housekeys and gained entrance through the front door.

Officer Robert Sims said there was no identification on the keys and ruled this theory out. He also stated that a forced entry was not made through any of the windows.

Cleaners Soundly Press Realtors For Softball Win

As a result of last week's games in the Adult Softball League, Daly City Drugs, who drew a bye, remained the only undefeated club in the league, thanks to Ralph's Cleaners who defeated Wm. Lagomarsino and Company 21-4.

Combining 15 hits and 14 walks gave Ralph's an easy victory over the Real Estate team. John Castagnola and Mike Clarke paced the winners in the hitting department, each getting three hits. Castagnola drove in five runs for the winners. Lagomarsino was greatly hampered by the loss of their regular pitcher.

Sarto Athletic Club is still fighting for a spot in the playoffs, as they defeated Consolidated Schools 12-3. Sarto pitcher Wayne Clay allowed a mere three hits and walked only one man. Consolidated Schools used three pitchers in an attempt to stop the Sarto club.

Baroni's pitcher, John Connelly, gave up only one hit, but wildness almost cost him the game as Baroni's downed Dan Goodwin Roofing Company 4-3. Alert base running and four wild pitches enabled Baroni's to stay in the running for a spot in the play-offs.

CSM Talks On New Campus Available

Community organizations are indicating interest in College of San Mateo planning for the College Heights Campus.

Requests from civic and service groups for presentation of educational specifications and preliminary plans are now being made through the College speakers bureau for 1959-1960.

William Goss, Director of Research, and Albert Fine, coordinator of Construction and Properties, are developing a series of slides to accompany description of the College Heights plan.

Maintained as a community service, the speakers bureau offers a variety of subjects presented by faculty and staff members. Education, international affairs, landscaping, architecture, travel, literature, music, and many other fields of interest are listed in the offerings of speakers.

All requests for representatives from College of San Mateo speakers bureau should be directed to the Office of College-Community Relations well in advance of the program date.

The applicant must be a U.S. citizen, a bona fide resident of California, over 16 years of age, who was not issued an antelope permit during the past ten years. Fish and game employees are not eligible for the hunt.
